TREASURE GARDEN EXPANDS INDEPENDENT SALES REPRESENTATION TEAM

Treasure Garden (Baldwin Park, California) has added two new independent representatives to its sales team. Chris Hemrick and Phil Spring of Carson Heath Inc. will now represent the award-winning shade products of Treasure Garden in the southern United States.

"The knowledge of the outdoor segment coupled with enthusiasm and passion for creating results for their lines was what drew us to add Chris and Phil to our sales team," says Candy Chase, national sales manager. "Each of them brings a professionalism and level of experience that will prove to be a valuable asset for further growth of our brand in this important area of the country."

Bringing 22 years of industry experience, Hemrick joins Treasure Garden as a Sales Representative to cover North and South Carolina. Hemrick started in the retail furniture industry and rose through the ranks where he eventually had the opportunity to manage an outdoor furniture retail store. In January 2010, Hemrick joined Carson Heath as a manufacturer sales representative, and, since that time, has successfully represented numerous outdoor furniture companies and won several prestigious awards. Hemrick and his family reside outside of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Although Spring is one of the newest Treasure Garden Sales Representatives, he is a 31-year veteran of the casual furnishings industry. He will be representing Treasure Garden in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, and Florida. During his career in the industry, Spring has successfully represented numerous outdoor furniture companies throughout the Southeast, creating lasting partnerships with retail stores and manufacturers based on his product knowledge and sales expertise. Spring has also served as a member of the Rep Council and won a number of awards from manufacturers he has represented. Spring and his family currently live outside of Atlanta.
